To whom it may Concern,

The document certifies that all courses of the BIPAS Program, taught at Udayana University, are advanced courses.

The Bali International Program on Asian Studies (BIPAS) is an international and interdisciplinary study program focusing on topics in international business with an emphasis on Asia's role in the changing global landscape. The aim of the program is to give students a comprehensive view of Asian markets and a refined understanding of the Asian business culture in a global perspective. The program features lecturers with diverse international backgrounds.

BIPAS is offered by the Faculty of Arts and it is open to international students who apply through Asia Exchange. Local degree students at Udayana University are also eligible to apply to the courses.

Local degree students are required to have successfully passed their first academic Year, as none of the courses offered in the BIPAS program are on an introductory level.

Kind regards,

Coordinator of BIPAS
